Information to the civilian population, including information on any programs, courses or documentation to disseminate the CCW to non-military audiences:

For more than two decades, the U.S. Government, through the Office of Weapons Removal and Abatement in the U.S. Department of State’s Bureau of Political-Military Affairs (PM/WRA), has published “To Walk the Earth in Safety,” which details how the United States continues to lead the international donor community in providing assistance for the clearance of landmines and explosive remnants of war, risk education, survivor assistance, and the destruction of at-risk and unsecured weapons and munitions, by providing more than $3.7 billion in Conventional Weapons Destruction (CWD) assistance to more than 100 countries since 1993.

The 2020 version of this publication (https://www.state.gov/reports/to-walk-the-earth-in-safety-2020/) describes the programs and achievements of our CWD efforts. Although this publication in the past referenced only U.S. Government work in humanitarian mine action, it has expanded to detail the comprehensive interagency approach to address explosive remnants of war, at-risk small arms and light weapons, including man-portable air-defense systems (MANPADS), and unsecure or unstable conventional munitions, as well as efforts to increase physical security and stockpile management (PSSM) around the world. This coordinated CWD approach ensures that all of these items will be addressed comprehensively to reduce their humanitarian impact and national security risks.
